

Are Cataracts Affecting Your Vision?

Twenty million Americans, or 1 out of 6 over age 40, are affected by cataracts. If you think you have cataracts or have been diagnosed with them, you know having a vision problem can be worrisome. But, there is good reason to be optimistic. Cataract removal is the most common surgical procedure performed in the United States. It is also one of the most successful surgeries.

In Cataracts—A Patient's Guide to Treatment, ophthalmologists David Chang, M.D. and Howard Gimbel, M.D. walk you through the process of cataract surgery... from diagnosis to treatment. Internationally-known cataract surgeons, both doctors have treated thousands of patients, and they understand your concerns.

Among the questions they answer:

- How are cataracts diagnosed?
- What shall I do to prepare for cataract surgery?
- What happens during cataract surgery?
- What are advantages to the newer "small incision" surgery?
- How long does it take to recover from the operation?
- Will I still need glasses or contacts?
- Can I have surgery if I have glaucoma or other eye conditions?
